

Merrie's Garden Pens

Years ago I grew up on a farm with a big red barn in a tiny New England town overlooking what the locals called Blueberry Hill. We had a huge garden and many farm animals that both my parents and siblings adored. From when the snow melted in the spring until the ground froze in the fall, we tended the garden. I remember the sweet fruits, colorful vegetables, gorgeous flowers and yummy treats my mom made.

Today I have my own organic gardens, filled with fruits, vegetables and flowers that I grow and harvest. I'm inspired by my youth but also bring an abundance of new ideas to my property. For the past twelve years I have been mixing my plants and artwork together. I am excited to offer my newly designed Garden Pens. Each pen has an element that comes directly from my garden. I dry and grind the plant matter then mix it with the transparent polymer to create the subtle color and floating pieces. I carefully make each pen in my CT studio overlooking my beautiful yard. My pens are my way of sharing my childhood, artwork, passions and gardens.
